

HOSTAFRICA acquires their fourth web hosting business in seven months

Cape Town—On 5 April 2020, Host Africa (Pty) Ltd, trading as HOSTAFRICA, acquired Divine Online Solutions’ web hosting business, continuing its rapid expansion in the hosting industry and persevering through the current adverse South African economic climate.

Divine Online Solutions is a web hosting and web design company also based in Cape Town, South Africa. Ruan van der Westhuizen, Director of Divine Online Solutions says, “We believe this partnership will consolidate expertise to provide our valued web hosting clients with superior customer and technical services, especially important in this time of great uncertainty, as well as give us the time to focus on our passion—our Web Design business.”

This merger brings Divine Online customers HOSTAFRICA’s signature quality service and client support, their cutting-edge cloud services and a diversified service portfolio. Lastly, their Cloud server technology that hosts these business’s websites and servers offers greater speed and stability.

“The last year has been a period of immense growth and success for HOSTAFRICA,” says Michael Osterloh, Managing Director of HOSTAFRICA who also owns VPS.co.za, Cloud.co.za, AmpleHosting, Gweb Hosting and Hob Host.

Osterloh continues that “Current events have forced most companies to work from home and take their operations online. Now more than ever businesses depend on web hosting and internet companies. We at HOSTAFRICA specifically host server infrastructure that allow hospitals, medical companies, eCommerce businesses, financial institutions and other essential businesses to operate uninterrupted during COVID-19 Lockdown. It is crucial that we hosting companies do our part to support the nation with the highest quality services. It’s easy to get discouraged in times like these but we see great potential and expect more acquisitions to come”.
